WHO WE ARE

A fight gear workshop that makes to your specification

Sparwright makes custom boxing and MMA gloves, protective gear, pads and bags, lifting belts, fightwear, club apparel and BJJ gis in our own workshop in Sialkot. Nothing is picked from a catalogue and relabelled: the materials, construction, colours, logo and packaging are yours, and you approve a sample before bulk.

FOR CLUBS AND GYMS

One kit, from the gloves to the hoodies

- 50 pieces per design, split across junior and adult sizes in any mix.
- Gloves, guards, shorts, rash guards and club apparel matched from one colour reference.
- A free sizing sheet to collect every member's sizes before you order.

FOR BRANDS

Private label, under your name

- Your design, labels and packaging, approved on a physical sample.
- The approved sample kept for at least two years after your last order, so restocks match.
- Your design stays yours: we never sell it or make it for anyone else.

Adnan Ali, Production Lead. With 10 years' experience in boxing and MMA sports equipment, Adnan writes from the workshop floor in Sialkot: how gear is made, how to source it well, and what to check before bulk production, for gyms, clubs and brands.

HOW AN ORDER WORKS

Mockup, sample, then bulk

Every order follows the same five stages, and nothing goes to bulk until you have approved a physical sample.

01 Share requirements

Product, quantity, logo, use case and destination are captured.

02 Review the concept

Colours, logo placement and initial specifications are aligned.

03 Approve the sample

Materials, construction, sizing and finish are confirmed.

04 Production and QC

Bulk is made against the approved specification and checked.

05 Packing and delivery

Final quantity, packing and shipment documentation are completed.

What the mockup and sample cost

- The mockup is free, with as many changes as you need.
- The sample is priced on its specification and customisation, and its price is in your quote before we make it.
- It reaches you in 7–10 days, and half of the sample price is credited against your bulk order.
- A revised sample is agreed with you first, and it is free if the change was our mistake.

How long bulk takes

Fightwear, club apparel, rash guards and BJJ gis	3–5 weeks
Gloves, pads, protective gear, bags and lifting gear	4–6 weeks

From sample approval, plus courier transit. Your exact dispatch date is confirmed in writing with your quote.

LOGOS AND DECORATION

Four ways to put your name on it

All four are done in our own workshop, and the method is chosen for the material, so the logo lasts as long as the product.

Sublimation

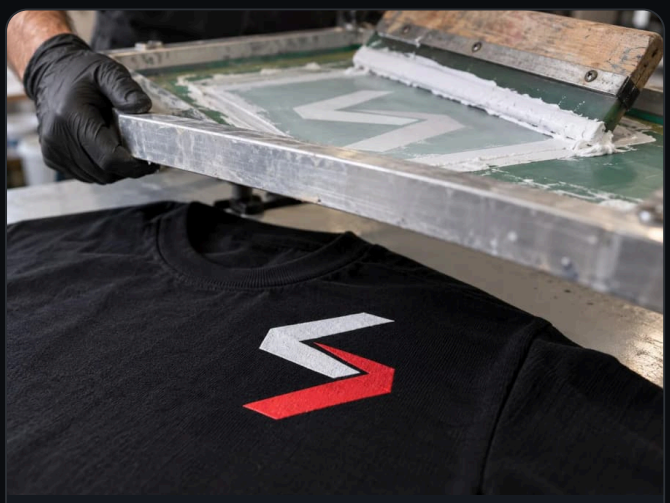
Full colour, edge to edge; the dye is in the fabric, so nothing cracks or peels.

Best on: Rash guards, fight shorts, spats, compression wear, all-over printed gloves.

DTF and heat transfer

Multi-colour logos and fine detail, pressed onto almost any material.

Best on: Gloves, pads, guards, garments, care and brand labels.



Screen print

Bold one- or two-colour logos, economical in bulk.

Best on: Cotton T-shirts, hoodies, gym bags.

Embroidery

A raised logo stitched in thread, gold thread included, that lasts the life of the garment.

Best on: BJJ gis and garments, where a stitched logo suits the fabric.

Colours matched to your reference. Send colour codes or a physical swatch. Colours are matched on the sample, and the approved sample is kept as the reference for reorders. Labels inside are printed, not woven.

PRIVATE LABEL AND PACKAGING

Arrives ready to sell, under your name

Your labels on every piece, and packaging made alongside your order once its artwork is approved. We design the box, bag and tag artwork from your logo; the design is charged and quoted with the order.

Who owns my design?

You do. Your artwork, mockups and approved specification are yours. We use them only to make and check your orders, and we never sell your design or make it for anyone else.

QUALITY CHECKS AND REORDERS

Checked against the sample you approved

Bulk is made to your approved sample and checked against it before it is packed. These six checks run on every order.

01 Materials and colour against the sample
Shell, fabric and colours compared with the approved sample and the agreed colour reference.

02 Construction and stitching
Padding, closure, seams and stress points checked against the sample.

03 Branding position and quality
Logo position, method and finish checked against the approved mockup and sample.

04 Sizes and measurements
Sizes and measurements checked against the agreed size chart and the sample.

05 Count and size split
Each product counted by size against the agreed split.

06 Packing and carton marking
Packed as agreed, with the export cartons marked and recorded.

SIZING A CLUB ORDER

Every size in one order

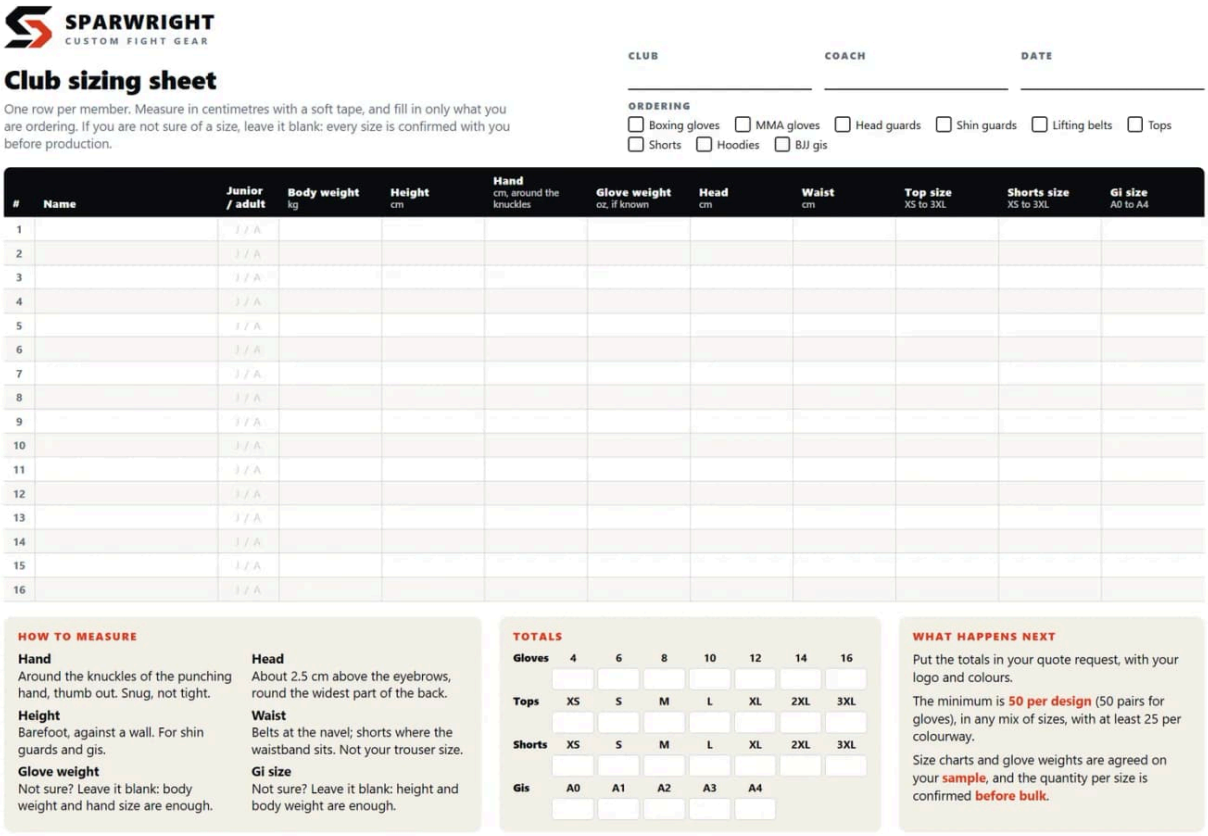
The minimum of 50 counts per design, not per size, so one design can cover every member, juniors alongside heavyweights.

01
Download the club sizing sheet, or the spreadsheet version.

02
Collect each member's hand, head, waist and height, junior or adult.

03
Send it with your brief. We split the order across sizes on the quote.

04
Add a few spares in the middle sizes for new members.



SPARWRIGHT

HOW TO MEASURE

Hand
Around the knuckles of the punching hand, thumb out. Snug, not tight.

Height
Barefoot, against a wall. For shin guards and gis.

Glove weight
Not sure? Leave it blank: body weight and hand size are enough.

Head
About 2.5 cm above the eyebrows, round the widest part of the back.

Waist
Belts at the navel; shorts where the waistband sits. Not your trouser size.

Gi size
Not sure? Leave it blank: height and body weight are enough.

WHAT OUR CLIENTS SAY

In their own words

Athlomax
Boxing gear, MMA equipment and activewear, United Kingdom

“What arrived matched what we approved.”

“We sell boxing, MMA and strength gear under the Athlomax name, so consistency matters more to us than anything. Sparwright made our wrist wraps, knee wraps, lifting straps, boxing gloves, MMA gloves and shin guards. We saw a mockup first, then a physical sample before committing to bulk. What arrived matched what we approved. Communication was straightforward despite the time difference. We've since reordered.”

Made for Athlomax: finished products, photographed.

“All arrived matching what we’d signed off, on time.”

“We wanted the whole club in one kit, from the gloves to the shorts. Sparwright sent mockups first, then samples, and was sorted on the second sample. The 60 pairs of gloves, the headguards, and the shorts and rash guards all arrived matching what we’d signed off, on time.”

Andrew, Head Coach
A boxing club in London

Boxing gloves · 60 pairs | Head guards | Shorts | Rash guards

“The colours and branding line up across the range.”

“We’re building our own fight gear brand, so everything had to look and feel like ours before we put our name on it. Sparwright made our boxing gloves, shin guards and headguards to our spec. We saw mockups first, then physical samples. The finished pieces matched what we’d approved, and having all three products from one maker means the colours and branding line up across the range.”
